The Mercedes-AMG S63 4MATIC Cabriolet "Edition 130"

Press Information

Limited special edition for the "130 years Inventor of the Automobile" anniversary

Summer 2016

Carl Benz and Gottlieb Daimler invented the automobile in 1886. In so doing, they established a tradition of constant further developments and innovative new creations that continue to this day. Mercedes-Benz's sports car and performance brand are now celebrating this 130th anniversary with the exclusive special edition Mercedes-AMG S63 4MATIC Cabriolet "Edition 130." Distinguished by particularly exquisite appointments that harken back to the legendary Mercedes-Benz Silver Arrows race cars, this special edition celebrates its world premiere at the North American International Auto Show in Detroit.

The Mercedes-AMG S63 4MATIC Cabriolet "Edition 130" presents an exclusive version of the open-top four seater with the special, high-gloss "AMG Alubeam" paint finish, the first application since the 2014 SLS AMG, a custom red fabric top limited to this edition to complement the interior and 5-twin-spoke 20-inch forged alloy wheels, typically exclusive to V12 S-Class models.

"The first automobiles from Carl Benz and Gottlieb Daimler were open vehicles. Mercedes-AMG honors this achievement of the founding fathers with this highly exclusive cabriolet, and demonstrates the developments the automobile has undergone in the last 130 years, developments which would have been inconceivable at that time," according to Tobias Moers, Chairman of the Board of Mercedes-AMG GmbH.

Limited: only 130 cars

The designo Exclusive Nappa leather upholstery in Bengal red/black as well as trim elements in AMG carbon fiber/piano lacquer black underscores the special position of this limited edition model, of which there will only be 130 available worldwide. A badge in the middle console and an engraving on the steering wheel bezel also highlight this fact. Brake calipers painted red and floor mats with Bengal red edging round off the visual impression.

Every customer receives a tailor-made AMG® Indoor Car Cover with the embroidered lettering "Edition 130 – 1 of 130" to protect this valuable vehicle from dust in the garage. Furthermore, at the handover of the keys the customer receives a Welcome Package with an "Edition 130" badge key ring and an aluminum box for the vehicle's key.

The "Edition 130" celebrated its world premiere at the 2016 North American International Auto Show in Detroit.

Aside from the expressive design of the exterior and interior, the four-seater cabriolet offers the brand's hallmark "Driving Performance." The handcrafted AMG 5.5L V8 biturbo engine with 577 hp output and 664 lb-ft maximum torque, the AMG Performance 4MATIC® all-wheel drive, acceleration from zero` to 60 mph in 3.8 seconds, and the AMG Ceramic Compound Braking System with red-painted calipers leave nothing to be desired.

The 2017 Mercedes-AMG S63 4MATIC Cabriolet "Edition 130" will be available at US dealers in the late summer 2016.
